"Your Invited"

We all know what's coming, that monumental date.
When we all overeat, and gain a lot of weight.
It's Thanksgiving Day, and all that implies, time to start planning, time really flies.
First buy the turkey, leave time to thaw. Remember last year, that was definitely raw.
Next, don't trust a guest to bring a side dish.
Either they forget, or it is not what you wish.
Always buy dessert- there's one reason why- Who has time to make a Pumpkin Pie?
About now, you are thinking my attitude is lax.
But I'm simply trying to give you the facts.
Is this Holiday worth keeping? With its heartburn and too much eating.
Crying Babies, and screaming kids. Are these people my relatives?
Now let's go back to Pilgrim's time. They too had dinner that cost less than a dime.
So, what was the menu, corn, rabbit, or deer.
The Indians loved it. Let's have that next year!

IN THANKSGIVING

Thank You Lord for all you do
And we just want to say
Thank You for Your gift of love
You send down to us each day.

And though we be unworthy
And careless in things we do
Our prayers do get answered
And Your love shines through.

You are a kind and loving Lord
Sending blessings from above
We thank you for all these gifts
That fill our hearts with love.

Theresa Zink
